SEVENTY YEARS AGO.

Within the last seventy years, the first stage commenced running between Boston and Portsmouth, with two horses only, being two days on the road and performing the route but once a week. They were carried more than two persons at a time during the first season, though the "Stage Chair" was "contrived" to carry four passengers, besides the driver. Now, we have morning and evening stages, daily, to Portsmouth; which, in the course of a year, carry an incredible number of passengers; besides a line of steam boats, which, it is believed, the present season, will convey a much larger number of travellers to Portland and places beyond, than have before been seen transported by this means of conveyance. Seventy years ago, the number of stage departures and arrivals did not exceed twenty, weekly; now we have a larger number than any other place in the Union, amounting to upwards of sixteen hundred departures and arrivals each week! Who can predict what the next seventy years will accomplish!—Boston paper.

From the New York Commercial Advertiser.

We learn with deep regret, that Mr. George W. Adams, who was a passenger on board the Benjamin Franklin, on her trip to this city, was lost overboard early this morning. During most of the day, Mr. A. was in a pleasant and sociable humor, and his conversation, however, he complained of indisposition, and spoke of symptoms of a termination of blood to the head. Subsequently he exhibited some decided evidences of mental alienation. Among other marks of a mind temporarily diseased, he came up to a gentleman on deck in the afternoon, and very abruptly said—"Was it you, Sir, who said I attempted to jump overboard?" On being answered in the negative, he turned quickly about, and walked to the other end of the boat, and although it was evident that the mind of the unfortunate gentleman was deranged, and a gloom hung over his life, yet he last evening appeared to join cheerfully in a conversation with Peter Jones, a native Missionary from Upper Canada, who, with Miss Barnes and two Indian boys were on board of the Franklin, on their way from Boston to this city. He expressed a deep interest for the mission, and gave a donation to Mr. Jones.—At the usual hour, Mr. A., with the other passengers, retired to their berths. But at 2 o'clock this morning, Mr. A. got up, dressed himself hastily, and went to several berths, asking the occupants, "Was it you who have circulated the report of a combination against Mr. Adams?" He then went upon deck, and seemed to intend to travel for some time. And at about 4 o'clock this morning his hat was found on deck, just forward of the wheel-house. His cloak also was found on deck. It is strange, under these circumstances, that the unfortunate young gentleman was not watched, and the catastrophe prevented.—This melancholy bereavement must fall heavily upon him who was lately at the head of this nation. There can be but few who will not sympathize with him in this affliction.

A very distressing circumstance happened last evening, though, providentially, the extent of the evil is not so great as is represented in the Gazette of this morning. A son, aged three years, of Mr. Joseph Shaw, who resides at No. 90 Henry-street, was playing in the street and was attacked by a sow, who injured the child very severely, and his death, in consequence of some of the owners-by, would probably have killed it.—One of its eyes was much lacerated, and an arm badly bruised.—*N. SLAVE TRADE.

This horrid and detestable traffic in human flesh, it appears by the last letters from Rio de Janeiro, and has been going on, by the people of Brazil during the past year, with unabated activity. It is estimated by intelligent persons at Rio, that in the course of the year 1828, forty thousand slaves were brought from Africa to Brazil!! In consequence of the determination of the Emperor of Brazil to suspend the importation of slaves entirely after the present year, extraordinary efforts continued to be made by the traders, to avail themselves of the existing privileges. The demand for specie, for the purchase of slaves, had consequently been very great, and this is one of the reasons assigned for the continued depreciation of the currency of Brazil.

The City of New Orleans has been thrown into great excitement by an order of the Governor of Louisiana to the Sheriff of New Orleans, to discontinue the practice of working the state convicts on the public streets. This course, it is alleged, has been adopted by his excellency, in consequence of the late Murder of Mrs. Flood, GAYARRÉ, who is connected with one of the most respectable families in the State. The papers without regard to party, denounces the Governor's conduct in the most indignant terms—the city authorities have remonstrated against it, and a public meeting of the citizens was called for the purpose of taking the subject into consideration.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

It appears by statistical tables, published in the Washington papers, that the imports into the United States during the year ending on the 30th of September, 1828, amounted to $88,509,824. Of this sum $41,927,792 was imported into New York. The exports for the same period have amounted to $72,264,686.—Of this sum $22,427,649 was exported from New York. It would seem that there has been imported this year $16,245,206 more than has been exported. The amount imported from the British West India Islands, all told, is $123,291. Exports to be same, $26,149. This is the sum total of the British Colonial trade, which was formerly about seven million.

The imports in the year 1827, were $79,484,498. Exports, $82,324,827.

The official estimate of the number of Indians within the United States is 313,139—of whom 30,209 are within the country east of the Mississippi, north of the state of Illinois, and west of the three upper lakes. 14,200 within the country west of the Mississippi, east of the Rocky Mountains, and not included in the states of Louisiana, Missouri, or the territory of Arkansas. 10,000 within the Rocky Mountains. 10,000 within the Rocky Mountains, between latitude 44 and 49.

The New Orleans Mercantile Advertiser of the 13th ult. contains a letter, dated Havana, April 2d, stating that an expedition would proceed from that place for the reconquest of Mexico. Information had been received that twelve battalions of 1600 men each, were embarking at Cadix for Cuba, and that the Captain General of that Island had received orders to place all the disposable force under the direction of Admiral Alabarde, with orders to be off the Cape of San Antonio toward the last of May; 6000 foot would embark on board Laborde's fleet, and the expedition from Spain would sail under the command of the Hero 74, and frigates Iberia and Porle.

driven rapidly about the streets, and in the summer the woman was dragged at the imminent hazard of her life; until the people rose with indignation, and released her from her perilous situation, so much injured that it was no longer possible to take her to the hospital. William was seized and carried before a magistrate where he was sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and costs.

Office of the New York Evening Post, May 8.

Richard Johnson and Catharine A. Castlere, were sentenced to death for the murder, were the foreman executed on Blackwell's Island. They were taken from the Bridewell a little after one o'clock, and conveyed to the gallows, accompanied by the Sheriff and a troop of horse, and followed by an assemblage of several thousands of men, women and boys, eager to witness the dying struggles of two of their fellow beings.—Early in the morning, Broadway, opposite the Bridewell, was blocked up with spectators, so much so as to make it difficult for carriages to pass; and for a short time before the procession moved very slowly, owing to the great numbers completely closed. We hoped it will be the last time a similar opportunity will be afforded to gratify the idle curiosity of the populace of this large city. The revised laws provide that after the year 1829, all executions for capital crime shall be performed in the yard of the prison where the convict is confined, in the presence of the proper officers.

We have just learned that the poor unfortunate wretches were turned off between 10 and 11 o'clock, from a gallows erected for the purpose on Blackwell's Island, and that a great part of the prisoners were directed in witnessing the spectacle, not being able to procure boats to convey them across the river to the Island; and this perhaps was a fortunate circumstance, for we have heard that one of the few boats which were put in requisition, with 12 persons in it, was upset, and before assistance could be rendered several were drowned.

☞ A respectable widow lady, formerly in good circumstances, with several children, has been, by misfortune, reduced to poverty. The past severe winter has completely stripped her of the little she possessed, and she is pressed for some means of relief. Her husband, dying from the effects of the cholera, left her destitute, and she has been constrained to permit the Publisher of this paper to make an appeal to the benevolence, who may be able and willing to relieve her suffering situation.—To such, he will give the residence, but not for idle curiosity. Any contributions placed in his care, will be punctually applied as directed.

EXHIBITION

OF THE Art of Fancy Glass Working and Spinning, at the Mansion Hall.

MR. L. FINN begs leave to inform the Citizens of Philadelphia, that he has, for a short time, the curious and interesting Art of Fancy Glass Working and Spinning, which has been so extensively patronized in different cities in Europe and America, and trusts he will be able to gratify the curious and scientific that may favour him with their patronage.

The great variety of Ornaments of different colored Glass and Enamel, manufactured by the Advertiser, in the presence of the company, would exceed the limits of the advertisement; sufficient to say, that he is ready to supply in native and cut but not so successfully imitated. The numerous ornaments are for sale, and form rare and curious specimens of art, will adapted as presents for relatives or a fair friend.

Admission, at half price, for a short time. Free admission tickets, not transferable, one dollar. Open from 10 till 2, and from 7 till 9 o'clock.

☞ This Exhibition is particularly interesting, and merits the attention of Heads of Families and Guardians. May 9—10

NOTICE.—A lecture will be delivered to-morrow evening, at the Universalist Church in Callowhill street, from 2. Thos. 1. 7, 8, 9. And to you who are troubled with the fear, that the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his glory appearing, in flaming fire, taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ; who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the face of such a one, at such time in the day occurring, as may best suit the learners.

The advantages resulting from a knowledge of this art, are so numerous and obvious, as to require no explanation. There, therefore, who may think it desirable to write from their own time to their own time, will do well to call on above, where every satisfaction will be given upon the subject. may
